

Video Phone Booth

- a service from myJoyce CARE

To be able to see each other makes all the difference in the world

While moving to a senior living facility comes with many advantages, it is also common that seniors experience a loss of contact with family members and friends. A lack of social interaction with near and dear can make people feel isolated and lonely despite all the great services offered at the new place of living.

By providing the Joice Video Phone Booth as an amenity service, senior living providers will stimulate social interaction for its residents and help them lead richer lives. Your residents are given a new opportunity to see and communicate with their loved ones even if people are not able to visit and meet in person.

The Joice Video Phone Booth is extremely easy to use irrespective of technical ability. It is cost effective and does not require technical skills or maintenance by the residence staff.

The only thing needed by family members and friends to communicate with their loved one is a PC with web camera and a broadband internet connection.

How it works

myJoyce delivers and installs the Video Phone Booth within 2 weeks from order.

The staff informs residents and relatives how to use the Joice Video Phone Booth service and how to book calls.

The Video Phone Booth is mounted on a rolling stand which can be placed in a fixed location or moved around at the facility as needed.

The Video Phone Booth Contains

- Videoscreen and webcam
- Joice Video Phone
- Roller Table
- Booking Chart
- Joice subscription with unlimited calling
- On-Site Support
- Unlimited number of PC users i.e. relatives and friends

"For the first time, millions of elderly and people with disabilities will be able to communicate through their ordinary TV set in a way that is unsurpassed in its simplicity."
